I have added the link some days ago, but there was a simple letter missing by mistyping. Now the link is available in all language versions.
But we will recommend to use a Newsreader programme to join the RailML-discussion.

A design beta is still vailable via http://sifa.ivi.fhg.de > RailML-Beta, feel free to comment direct to my colleague Alexander Wolf <Alexander.Wolf@ivi.fhg.de>. We fill finshing the design process within next week and start to fill the german contents. I will post a message if this will be ready and will ask for comments. At the end of february we will finish the german version and will launch with a link at railml.org parallel to the old pages. Then we will start translating the pages and move railml.org to a better and secure provider. The DNS-record shall be changed in mid-march.

Best regards,
