
Subject: Re: <track>@mainDir
Posted by christian.rahmig on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 14:49:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear Thomas, dear all,

Am 24.10.2018 um 15:35 schrieb Thomas Nygreen:

> [...]
> Quote:
>> However, it is suggested to adapt the list of possible >> enumeration values. It makes sense to have a main driving direction >> * up >> * down >> * both
>>
>> [...]
>
> The currently allowed values are only "up", "down",
> "unknown" and "none". In order not to break backwards > compatibility, I suggest just removing "unknown", not > replacing "none" with "both".

thank you for your feedback. I modified the Trac ticket #324 [1] accordingly, so that we may implement this adaptation of @mainDir enumeration value list with a future version of railML (railML 2.5 or railML 3.x).

[1] <https://trac.railml.org/ticket/324>

Best regards
Christian

--

Christian Rahmig - Infrastructure scheme coordinator
railML.org (Registry of Associations: VR 5750)
Phone Coordinator: +49 173 2714509; railML.org: +49 351 47582911
Altplauen 19h; 01187 Dresden; Germany www.railml.org
