
Subject: Re: small issues on "register" and "tLineInfrastructureManagerCode"

Posted by on Mon, 03 Dec 2012 15:33:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear Susanne,

concerning the file structure: I would prefer using named attributes rather than default attributes with element names for shortness (`<version code='ENEE'>` rather than `<code>ENEE</code>`).

concerning the contents: Please do not provide redundant elements for the same register ("RL100", "DS100", "DV100" are all the same). You find examples for different registers in Wiki. If you feel necessary to provide different names for the same register, disjunctive validities should be enforced. This is not the case in your example.

Best regards,
Dirk.
